Oracle Therapy with Rudraksha :

Rudraksha beads, botanically known as Elaeocarpus Ganitrus Roxb, are the seeds of the fruit from Rudraksha trees. In legend, Rudraksha were formed from Lord Shiva's (Rudra) tears (Aksha). Rudraksha trees are found mainly in Indonesia, Nepal, and India. There are clefts on the surface of the beads which are used to characterize them. These clefts define the healing properties of the beads and determine the healing effects on your etheric body. They also define the positive attributes that can help to enhance your success in relationship, career, health and business.

The beneficial powers of Rudraksha beads have been known in Asia for ages and are well documented in traditional and contemporary literature. Scientific studies have been undertaken in recent years to determine just how Rudraksha Healing works. One of the best known research papers was published by Dr. Suhas Roy of the prestigious Indian Institute of Technology in Banaras, India. He confirmed that the healing powers of Rudraksha beads act to stabilize the heart beat and work on the magnetic principles of Dynamic Polarity. Rudraksha beads transmit subtle electrical and inductive impulses with opposing polarity and intensity. This action helps to regulate the heart and to ensure ideal blood circulation in the body.

In China, Rudraksha is used to enhance the flow of Chi life energy in the body and balance Yin & Yang. The Zen Buddhist sect in Japan uses Rudraksha beads to induce deeper states of meditation. Men and women experience heightened energy levels, stamina, and peace of mind within a few hours of using Rudraksha beads on their body. In the long term, Rudraksha beads reverse the effects of stress, alleviate depression, eliminate anxiety and other mood disorders, improve concentration, enhance relaxation, and exhibit anti-aging properties.

Therapy with dZi beads:

dZi beads are one of the most treasured and mysterious beads known today. The oldest dZi beads, which date as far back as 4,000 years ago, came from the Mesopotamia area (Iraq, Middle East), Afghanistan, India, Sikkim, Nepal, Bhutan, etc. dZi beads that are 1,300 years and older are classified as Ancient; beads 100 to 350 years old are of the Middle Period; and beads less than 10 years old are of the New Period (new replica).

dZi beads hold great symbolic and religious significance, with many different artistic patterns associated with them. The most common dZi bead is of etched agate, where designs are being formed by cutting into its surface. Usually the higher the number of "eyes" on a dZi bead, the more desirable and higher the bead is in value and properties.

Health Benefit. dZi beads can help dissipate excessive body heat (also known as "sick wind" in Chinese medicine), which is one of the main causes of illness. They may also help calm the patient's mental state and promote physical and spiritual harmony. Bringing you success fortune in business, relationship and health. dZi beads made in ancient times contain more healing properties than modern-made beads. Larger beads have a stronger energy field and more healing effects than smaller beads, but the value of some small beads are higher than beads of larger sizes. dZi beads can be applied for healing, health keeping, beautification and pain-relieve.
